[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEW YORK, March 18 .- One of the most mysterious breach of promise actions in the history of the Supreme Court was filed yesterday against James Osborne, former assistant district attorney and counsel in many notable cases, by Miss Rae Tanzer, a twentyfour-year-old milliner.

The case, in which $50,000 damages is demanded, on account of the lawyer's failure to keep an alleged promise of marriage, is mysterious because Os-borne swears he never has even seen the girl, and knows of her only through the report of detectives whom he hired to investigate her history.

Miss Tanzer declares these detectives have hounded her for weeks and, because of threats, have forced her to move from her home to a secret ad-
